The United States Army transport Thomas, from San Francisco, was sighted at 7:30 o'clock this morning. She was docked at about 9:30 o'clock at Naval Wharf No. 2. The transport left San Francisco Sept. 1. Her passage was uneventful, its length being explained by the vessel's officers as being due to the poor coal used.

The Thomas has on board five passengers for Honolulu. They were Mr. Harrison and wife, relatives of a colonel in the artillery corps; Mrs. W. H. Everett, wife of Captain Everett of the U. S. Navy; W. C. Kenake, the well-known employee of the local post-office; and Miss Maude McCulliffe, a relative of the post quartermaster sergeant.

In the troop quarters the Thomas carries for this port James Barry, sergeant of the Marine Corps; Peter Dodd, machinist U. S. Navy, and three coast artillery recruits.

For Guam the transport has on board B. W. Grogins, an employee of the Navy, his wife and child, and four enlisted men U. S. Navy.

The Thomas has a large list of cabin passengers for Manila, the majority of whom are Army officers and civil government employees. Among them is General Wm. M. Graham, U. S. A. (retired), who with his wife and daughter intends to pay a visit to the Philippines.

Mrs. Jno. F. van Orsdale is the wife of Colonel van Orsdale of the Twelfth Infantry.

Miss Le Tourneau goes to Manila to marry Major Schofield.

Mrs. Chas. F. Pond is well known in this city. She is the wife of Lieutenant Commander Pond, U. S. Navy, and (Continued on Page 3.)

ATKINSON LECTURES
ROAD LABORERS

Albert Horner arrived in the city today from Hawaii. He is a member of the Hamakua Road Board and has been deeply interested in the labor question in connection with the Oahu-Kauai road. Mr. Horner said today that the citizen laborers who had replaced the Japanese were now doing good work. When they were first taken on they went about the work much as if they owned the island. Last week Secretary Atkinson went out to the road from Hilo and lectured the artisans on the virtues of hustling. He gave them some straight talk, since which every Hawaiian and Portuguese has been working stripped to the waist in a Japanese. The road is progressing very satisfactorily to all concerned.

Admiral Beckley reports the following sugar left at Hawaii ports ready for shipment: Onomea, 8460; Hamakua, 4,000; Paauhau, none; Honokaa, 6900; Punaluu, 4050.

NOTLEY SOLVES
FOR PLANTATIONS
LABOR QUESTION

Chas. Notley, the Home Rule candidate for Delegate to Congress, has formed an unique scheme to capture the support of the plantation interests. He is the inventor and patentee of the device that is to catch them. His plan is best described in the words of a plantation manager to whom he divulged his policy on Hawaii.

"Notley came to me," said the manager, "and said that he had worked out a plan that would forever do away with plantation strikes and labor troubles."

"The first step in Notley's scheme is to have no one work on plantations except citizens. He would go among these citizens and determine upon a classification of labor and a scale of wages, satisfactory to them and to the managers. He would then choose a Legislature of men who stood right on the labor and wages issue. He would enact a law, fixing the scale of wages for the different kinds of plantation work, reducing the matter to uniformity throughout the entire group."

"Then," says Notley, "the law will be on the books and if the laborers strike they can be arrested and put in jail. The planters will be in a position to enforce the agreement, because they will have the sheriff and the courts behind them."

The idea struck the plantation manager as so good that he told the Home Rule statesman that it was almost too fine for the islands. He suggested to Notley that the scheme had better be suggested to Congress and applied to the mainland first. If it worked satisfactorily there Congress could easily extend it to the islands.

There was filed for record at the Registrar's office today a document transferring the one-half interest in the Puakea Planting Co., situated in the Kohala District, owned by Mrs. Eliza Y. Mackenzie, to Howard R. Bryant, for the sum of $15,000. Transfer of the interest was made through the Henry Waterhouse Trust Co., Ltd.

Mrs. Mackenzie and Howard R. Bryant formed the Puakea Planting Company about five years ago, and started the growing of cane on the lands owned by Dr. James Wight. Theo. H. Davies & Co. were the agents. The cane grown on this property is ground at the Hilo Mill. There are some six plantations engaged in the cultivation of cane in the Kohala District—Kihuli, Kohala Sugar Co., Union Mill Co., Hilo Plantation and Puakea Planting Co., all having mills with the exception of the last named.

With the bringing into the District of water by the Kohala Ditch Company, the lands owned by Dr. Wight, and situated between the Hilo plantation and Mahukona, and now used for cattle grazing purposes, will be greatly benefited.

There are some five or six thousand acres of land suitable for cane cultivation, and it is the intention of the Puakea Planting Co. to enlarge as soon as the water reaches the land. The Kohala planters and the Kohala Ditch Company have been deliberating for the past two months regarding the terms on which the water is to be delivered, but a settlement of all differences has now practically been reached.

It is stated that the Kohala Ditch people will start in actual work of building the ditch within a very short time now. Mr. O'Shaughnessy, who has had charge of the water development for the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Co., will take charge of the ditch.

By the latter part of 1906 or the early part of 1907 at the latest, things will be doing in the Kohala District.

NAKED IGORROTES
IN PHILIPPINE EXHIBIT
DID MUCH HARM

S. Eugene De Rackin, editor of the Manila Review of Trade and Price Current, is a passenger in the Thomas returning to Manila. Mr. De Rackin has been at the World's Fair, where he published his paper and enlisted his energies in promoting Philippine affairs.

From what De Rackin says, the Philippine exhibit has not been a success which had been hoped. The exhibit did not get more than one-tenth of the attendance of the Fair and the chief attraction seemed to be the naked igorotes. Thus the Philippines went before the people in a light most unsatisfactory to the business interests. The half-naked portion of the exhibit was what the crowd seemed most anxious to see, and it is now known that it was a mistake to have ever allowed the Igorote camp to go to St. Louis.

The World Fair management wanted these people so that the visitors might note the difference between civilized and barbaric Philippines. The people looked first at the barbarism which they seldom see and forgot the civilization which is an old story.

Early next week the Territorial grand jury will make a thorough investigation of the running down of a funeral procession by an electric car near the Oahu Railway depot recently. The inquiry did not sit today. Several indictments are ready for presentation.

W. P. McDougall of Kohala arrived in the city today on business.

GRAND JURY WORK

By the side of this big roll of rare tapa were numerous smaller pieces and swathed in these was found a le-headed mummy seven feet in length. Nearby, wrapped in strange figured tapa was a human head, big of proportions and thatched by a mass of fiery red hair. The ghastly skull was firmly encased in the dried parchment-like skin, and seemed to have been severed from the body by a swinging blow of sword or cleaver. The discovery gave rise to all sorts of theories and Mr. Wagner has written the Bishop Museum concerning the matter.

GREAT MUMMY
FOUND ON HAWAII

A discovery has been made in a natural cave in Hamakua which has aroused the profoundest interest. Important anthropological material was discovered and the finds made and the problems connected therewith have been turned over to the authorities of the Bishop Museum for disposition.

A gentleman named Wagner, at Hilo, discovered a cave up in the woods of Hamakua and proceeded to explore it. He found among other things, perhaps the largest piece of tapa cloth ever seen in the islands. When the bolt was unrolled, it measured seventy feet in length and was of the usual width.

By the side of this big roll of rare tapa were numerous smaller pieces and swathed in these was found a le-headed mummy seven feet in length. Nearby, wrapped in strange figured tapa was a human head, big of proportions and thatched by a mass of fiery red hair. FUSION FALLS THROUGH
IN EAST HAWAII

THREE-CORNERED FIGHT IS AL-
MOST A GUARANTEE OF A BIG REPUBLICAN VIC-TORY.

The Democratic party in East Hawaii has opened its campaign work, putting forward the best foot it could find. The District convention for the nomination of Senators and Representatives was held Wednesday at Hilo. And Thursday night the arrival in the city of the redoubtable Iaukea was followed by an outdoor meeting, with the Hilo band and Hilo orators as magnetic accessories to the chief.

At the meeting Thursday night Iaukea was not in his best form. Yet he was given a respectful hearing by a large audience of whom only a small percentage were Democratic sympathizers, judging from the limited applause. Nothing could better demonstrate that Hilo is Republican to the core than the first appearance of Iaukea. Hilo is as certainly beyond the reach of Iaukea as the snows of Mauna Kea are above the parched throats of the citizen toilers on the Oahu road. Notley can't touch Hilo voters with a twenty foot pole. Iaukea has hung them high 350 where they will stay out of reach until they are gathered into the Republican basket in November.

Thursday night, Iaukea made a speech that was more an impassioned appeal to his hearers to join him in his political ambitions, than a calm discussion of the issues presented in either platform. He was given, however, a creditable reception.

The speech by Chas. M. De Boland, the silver-tongued, lone Democrat of Hawaii, was an eye opener. It gave the key to the Democratic theory of the issues in Hawaii this fall. De Boland brilliantly outlined the history of the Democratic party in the United States. He devoted a portion of his time to the demonstration that the Home Rule party has no place in American or Hawaiian politics. He said that both the Republican and the Democratic parties stand for home rule both in Hawaii and on the mainland and that they always had so stood.

KUHIO'S WORK

May Capture Kalapana's
Home Rule Strong-

WISE AND KALAUOKALANI
ABLE LIEUTENANTS

TIDAL WAVE OF REPUBLICANISM
IN PROSPECT WITH HILO A STORM CENTER—OLAA
NEEDS POUNDING.

Delegate Kuhio and his associate campaigners are marching through East Hawaii like a Japanese army through Manchuria. The initial campaign of Kuhio on Hawaii has been attended with flattering results and has proved that the once solid opposition to Republicanism has commenced to break up and disappear. He was given ovations in Hilo and the warmest of receptions in Papakou and Kalapana, where Home Rule heretofore has flourished. John Wise, D. Kalauokalani Jr. and S. L. Desha have proved most able lieutenants in this preliminary campaign and deserve the widest field for the exercise of their stamping abilities in the Republican cause.

It was at Kalapana that the Republican Delegate was accorded the most significant reception. Two years ago when Kuhio addressed the voters in that Home Rule stronghold, he was barely given a respectful hearing. He was met with no little derision and the opposition of the people was plain on every hand. This week he was given an ovation down there. He held three meetings and when he came away the people urged him to return again before election day. It is not improbable that Kuhio will carry Kalapana for the Republican party.

At Papakou the majority of the voters have been entertaining themselves during the last two months, by jumping from the Home Rule frying pan into the Democratic fire, and then back again into the frying pan. Kuhio found them in an unsettled frame of mind and willing to sit attentively through a Republican meeting. It is unusual for Home Rule on Hawaii to go out to hear Republicans. They are doing it for Kuhio.

At Olua the Republican campaigners found a chilly atmosphere. Ryan and one or two others have a wonderful influence in that precinct and the Republican workers admit that some hard pounding must be done to capture the place.

The strong tide of Republicanism that has set in on East Hawaii has encouraged the entire ticket, and every man believes he will be elected. The lucky year for Republicanism is believed to have come for Hawaii, and candidates who heretofore would have been distressed by the fangs of facitism are now happy with unanimity behind them.

The Republican leaders are even going into Waipio valley with confidence that they can at least capture the outer forts.

Liaoyang, Aug. 31.—A Russian correspondent of the Associated Press sends the following from the southeast front: After midday the Japanese concentrated the strength of all their artillery fire against Hill No. 58 and the village of Maetum, endeavoring to break into our left. At the same time they viciously attacked our west line to the right of the hill.

Attack followed attack for three hours. Between 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon we repulsed three headlong charges against our line. After this the Japanese, with the strength of all their batteries, opened fire along the whole southern front but this attack, too, was driven back with what seemed tremendous loss, although it was impossible to tell clearly what happened amid the shell fire and fighting. The roar of siege guns, mortar batteries and mixed volley firing went on until darkness set in.
